GOULD DROPS PIGSKIN PRY-OFF TO SO. PARIS

In a game which developed from a runaway into a close thriller, Gould Academy finally went down to defeat for the first time since 1947 and the first time on Alumni Field since 1946. South Paris proved too strong a team for an opener with only two weeks practice. They took advantage of the local opening game weaknesses and mistakes to take a commanding 14-0 lead at the half. Hille took a pass from the two yard line in the first period to score with Richards plunging for the extra point. In the second period three completed passes, put the Cardinals on the seven yard line from where Richards crashed over for TD number two. A Bean to Hille pass scored the extra point and it looked like the Huskies were in for a real beating.

In the second half, however, the Academy eleven came back with plenty of spirit to out-play their opponents and nearly snatch the game out of the fire. Aided by a 21 yard run by Bean and three other first downs the ball was carried to the five yard line from where Agnese circled end for the first GA score. The place-kick was missed which finally was the difference between defeat and a tie. In the final stanza the sizzly Cardinals never did get out of their back yard and one poor pass from center and a fumble behind the goal line opened the way for Lowell to score touch down number two as he fell on the ball just before it went over the end line. The second place-kick by Lowell was good making the score 14-13 as the game finally ended on the South Paris 25 yard line.

HUSKIES TRAVEL TO MEXICO, SATURDAY

This Saturday the Gould eleven will travel to Mexico where they will take on the Pintos for their second game of the season. The team showed prospects last week in their last ditch comeback against South Paris. However, much work is needed in overcoming their many mistakes, the defense needs plenty of work, and also defense against passes. The loss of Ted Clark, tackle, for two or three weeks also is a tough blow. He suffered a broken artery in the leg, which has put him on crutches for some time. The Pintos too have had their troubles. They have dropped games to Rumford, Wilton Academy, and Farmington. Pinto and Husky games are usually bitterly fought battles and the Bethel eleven is preparing for another tough one this week.

INSURANCE EXECUTIVE TELLS OF ALCOHOL'S HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL

The following is the text of a talk delivered by Wm. N. Plymat, Des Moines attorney and Treasurer of the Preferred Risk Mutual Insurance Company of Des Moines (America's only total abstainers' Automobile Insurance Company), before the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Convention at Denver, Colo., on September 19, 1950:

Less than two weeks ago at five o'clock in the morning in one of America's major cities, a car crashed into the back of a heavily loaded truck which was standing at an intersection waiting for a stop light to change. No one saw the crash but persons four blocks away told of hearing. An investigation at the scene showed no skid marks to indicate that the car's brakes had been applied. Police said that the car must have been traveling at a high rate of speed. The evening newspaper that day made no mention of alcohol having been involved in the accident, but the next day the coroner said the driver of the car had enough alcohol to be considered intoxicated by National Safety Council standards.

The driver of the car sustained serious injuries but survived. Three men who were passengers died, and the driver of the standing truck was injured. This injury and death was a tragic loss of great proportions, but I am mindful of those who were left behind. One man who died was single and his father and mother survived. The other two men who died were married. One was survived by his mother, his wife, and four children ranging in age from eight months to fourteen years. The other was survived by his mother, wife, and five daughters ranging in age from three to thirteen years. If this sort of thing happened once a year in America it would be a tragedy worth trying to do something about, but it is a kind of accident that is happening over and over again every day all over America and let me tell you how often. The National Safety Council's 1949 edition of "Accident Facts" makes this statement with reference to the previous year's accident toll: "In one-fourth of the fatal accidents the driver or pedestrian was reported to have been drinking." Last August of this year this Council predicted that 1950 will be the second worst year for traffic deaths in our history. This prediction was based upon statistics for the first eleven months of 1950 during which time 18,229 were killed. The total toll estimate for 1950 was 36,000. If the same conditions prevail this year with regard to alcohol and accidents and there is no reason to assume otherwise, at least 36,000 people will die this year on our alcohol-caused traffic accidents. On September 1st the Government announced that to that time 682 had been killed and 2,828 were missing as a result of the Korean campaign. This will give you at least an idea of the relative importance of our drink-drive death problem.

In recent years much progress has been made in improving the engineering of automobiles and highways which has resulted in reduction of accidents due to mechanical failure and poor highways. We have been teaching our drivers more about driving and the laws of the road and this has helped. We have attacked the problem of abnormal number of accidents involving youth. We have instituted programs of education in our schools and campaigns to make young people accident conscious and we are making progress in this direction although it is still a critical problem. But while we have been making good progress in other causes of accidents we are making little progress in reducing the toll due to liquor.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, there were 913 arrests for driving while intoxicated in Iowa. The next year it was 1,340, the next 2,351, the next 2,985, the next

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

An event of importance second only to the war in Korea is soon to take place in this country—the November general elections. And if precedent is any portent, about half the eligible voters will stay home on election day. If that happens, it will simply mean that the best organized and most aggressive minority can impose its will upon the American people. The danger becomes greater as the government becomes larger and more powerful. Regardless of the party in label of the Administration, politicians will try to stay in office. As the activities of government expand, the evil of patronage expands in direct proportion. In a thousand ways pressure is brought to bear upon larger and larger groups of voters—job promises, funds for local projects, legislative favors. If a Congressman or Senator resists these abuses of trust as a matter of principle he is hooted down by the "realists". A few months ago that very thing happened when Senator Paul Douglas futilely offered amendments to cut some of the wasteful patronage out of the $1,065,000,000 rivers and harbors bill. In the words of a press report, "Each amendment was greeted with raucous laughter. Each was howled down, and some of the loudest shouts were from those Republican and Southern Democrats who moan most about economy between appropriations bills. Only one voice was raised in support of Douglas by Democratic Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia who pointed out that, unless whittled down, the rivers and harbors bill eventually would cost the nation $30,000,000,000."

It is easy to see, in the light of an event of this nature, why the general elections this fall are of grave importance. The vested interest in big government has reached the point where nothing but a record turnout of public spirited voters can alter the trend. There is encouraging evidence that an unprecedented effort is being made to get out the vote. Thousands of rural newspapers are taking part in a nationwide get-out-the-vote campaign. Retailer organizations, labor and business groups are working to stimulate interest. A Denver businessman, after questioning Colorado businessmen and finding that over one-third were not even registered voters, launched his own get-out-the-vote project. This illustrates a curious phenomenon that accounts for the long tenure of so many irresponsible officeholders. Millions of Americans who bear the major tax burden of supporting government show the least interest in going to the polls. Their default is the principle reason why an aggressive minority may decide the fate of the nation in years to come.

3,157, and the year ending June 30, 1950, brought 3,911 arrests. This was a 23% increase in one year. The press was quick to credit the great increase to a constantly increasing campaign of enforcement. Undoubtedly there has been a healthy increase in enforcement activities but does this reduce the number of accidents due to alcohol in our state?

Listen to this: Mr. Alfred W. Kahl, Commissioner of the Iowa Department of Public Safety, said this to say on July 26th last in reference to the first six months of 1950: "The 'Late hour drunken driver' is still the greatest single highway killer. Nearly one-fifth of all drivers involved in fatal accidents

INDUSTRY TEAMS WITH 4-H CLUB PROGRAMS

Ten years ago only a handful of industrial concerns were supporting 4-H Club Work nationally. Today—through the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work—nearly 50 industries, businessmen and women are backing up their faith in two million 4-H Club members with incentives valued at $400,000 annually. This amount is distributed for awards and leader training fund. In 4-H programs which range from canning to tractor maintenance, "The money is considered a sound investment in the nation's future by encouraging these rural boys and girls who have pledged their head, heart, hands and health; to make the best better," declared Guy L. Noble, director of the National 4-H Committee, a non-profit citizen's group.

"4-H youth learn by doing," he stated, "and guiding their efforts. are 225,000 volunteer club leaders who work under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural colleges to carry out 4-H program objectives." The teenagers do a man-sized job in their projects, according to Noble, and by the time they reach 21 man are well on their way to becoming independent farmers, while others have substantial bank accounts.

Donors of awards include: Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Kerr Glass Mfg. Co.; Spool Cotton; Educational Bureau; Carnation Company; Lederle Laboratories; Simplicity Pattern Co.; General Motors; Illinois Central Railroad; International Harvester; Nash-Kelvinator; American Forest Products Industries; Allis-Chalmers; Montgomery Ward; Kellogg Co.; Battle Creek; Pure Oil Co.; Mr. Charles R. Among the awards for outstanding achievement are trips to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago. Here 1,100 state and national champions accompanied by club leaders assemble from every part of the country. They are joined by delegates from Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The 1950 Congress will convene Nov. 26, and for five days the rural youth will be treated to the best the Windy City has to offer in educational tours, food, entertainment and other events. During the meeting, 150 college scholarships will be presented to club members chosen for national honors.

This year a total of $15,112 in U. S. Savings Bonds, and 227 watches are offered to state winners. Beautiful gold and silver medals representing 29 different projects will go to 4-H members for winning county honors.

What Can Women Do?

Our daily mail brings many letters from people of all callings and in every section of the country. They ask questions, make suggestions, give encouragement, offer constructive criticism. An unusually thought-provoking letter has just been received from a woman residing in a suburban community in the metropolitan area of New York. She says she was moved to action when finally she became aware of the dangerous trends at work in America.

"What can we (women) do," she asks, "to prevent our wonderful country from getting into the awful muddle that England is in now? I feel that women are the only hope and I hope you won't misinterpret me or laugh at me. If a few of the women's organizations could be made aware of the danger to our country if this drift toward government control of things continues, I am sure you would be surprised at what would be accomplished."

A Key Factor

She is correct. Women will be a key factor in the determining of America's future course, both as a part of the electorate and as a thought-shaping force. Thousands of American women already are engaged on one side or the other. In the ideological conflict now being waged to shape the form of government our nation shall have in the future, either a free enterprise Republic or a Socialist "Welfare State."

The Socialists and Communists have been remarkably successful in recruiting and mobilizing women to their forces. Wherever you find people demonstrating cunningly infiltrating, scheming and plotting to destroy the American way of life, you will find some of the staunchest partisans among them to be women. There are radicals and they have courage and almost inexhaustible energy. But their efforts would be amplified if the full force of our true American womanhood could be aroused. It is encouraging to note the mounting signs of such an awakening.

Beginning To Act

Women have been in attendance at our last five Harding College Freedom Forums. Some women's organizations have awakened to the danger and are groping for Americanism. Others they can sponsor as a group line or two organizations have recently been formed for the primary purpose of mobilizing women to help preserve the basic American principles. We've prepared a list at Harding on "What Can Women Do?" It contains "Guiding material on American history, free enterprise economics and Socialism. And it sets forth in detail 'a plan of action for women interested in helping preserve our American way of life'."

"The big trouble," says the New York homemaker in her letter, "is that we women are already so busy that we can't help in getting started. Work any kind of day, night or week, and I think most of us like to think of amusement and politics as some work. However, we do have a surprising amount of talent and I think married men will agree we are free and independent thinkers and we have enormous energy."

A Challenge

Any woman with a desire to do something for her country must take time. If she needs help in getting started, work any kind of day, night or week, and I think most of us like to think of amusement and politics as some work. However, we do have a surprising amount of talent and I think married men will agree we are free and independent thinkers and we have enormous energy."

1. Inform yourself especially on the basic facts of Capitalism and Socialism.
2. Get an Americanism service (book and show it to teacher and student groups in business and industries in your area.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

The Value of the Efficient Worker

ARE YOU WORRIED about holding down your job if you make a mistake several times in succession? Or do you assume an independent attitude rather prevalent among the young workers today? I know one young office worker who says she made the same mistake three times in her new position. She had got her job through a friend who was a friend of the boss, and feeling that he might say nothing because of this relationship, she went to him and resigned. He looked surprised and when she told him why, he said, "Well, Miss Brown, you are a very conscientious worker; your work is neat and efficiently done; we have been very pleased because you are always on time; you don't spend hours each week telephoning friends during working hours; you are careful of your personal appearance, and we don't find all these qualities combined in one person very often. So we'll have to allow for a few mistakes, even if your addressing the same client wrongly three times did cause some inconvenience. I don't think you'll do it again."

Carnegie

Then Miss Brown was surprised, and his attitude awakened a well spring of gratitude within her. I was reminded of Miss Brown recently when I was told an incident by Miss Ruth Minogue, Richmond Hill, N. Y. A short time ago she threw into the waste basket a navy department order for 5000 books together with a check in payment. This was rescued by the cleaning woman. She began to wonder if it had happened before, and what would happen to her if she was again so careless. She thought her employer was watching her rather closely since the careless happening occurred, and this made her a bit nervous. She began to worry for she wanted to hold down that job, and more than that, she didn't want to be dismissed as inefficient from any job.

After a few days of worry, she saw that it was affecting her work. When I told her about Miss Brown's boss, she decided to make her boss feel about her as Miss Brown's boss had felt about Miss Brown.

After acting on this decision for a couple of days, she stopped worrying, and went ahead with her work in an efficient manner. I just want to assure Miss Minogue that the boss is just as eager to retain a good worker as a worker is to hold down a good job. I want to tell her, too, that two percent will include all the really efficient workers. And it isn't so difficult to be one of them, barring lack of experience.

THE OLD LINE office-holders

have been cut in the various governmental agencies on the question of whether or not they or an entire new agency would have charge of rationing and controls under the new law just handed President Truman by the congress.

The President had announced that it was his plan for the existing agencies of government, such as agriculture, treasury, commerce and labor, to take over the functions in their own field which were practiced by OPA during the last war.

Mr. Truman found much opposition to his theory, however, from within the ranks of his official family on the theory it was bad politics. These leaders reasoned they and their departments likely would be here after the need for controls was over and they would inherit the ill-feelings and gripes which controls necessarily cause in the consuming public. The President, therefore, has announced he will create an entirely new agency to stabilize prices and wages to be known as the economic stabilization agency, headed by a director of price stabilization and with a wage stabilization board set up within the agency.

Particular opposition was voiced within the department of agriculture over the President's original plan on the theory the department which also conducts the price support program, would be conducting the price control program which would leave it open to much criticism.

In the meantime, pending setup of the new agency, such allocations and controls as are necessary immediately will be operated by the old-line agencies under orders of the President.

President Truman likely will ignore the sentiment of the congress on the Franco loan provision of the committee appropriations measure. The President considers the Franco loan to Spain merely an authorization, but he does not consider himself bound to make the $42,500,000 loan, since he does not believe it would be in the best interest of the United States.

3. Ask your local radio station to carry an Americanism series; several are available without cost.
4. Speak up. Address women's clubs, employee groups, PTAs. Write letter to your public officials, your newspapers.
5. "Sometimes," the New York woman wrote, "I think even war itself could be checking if the war were of the world put their minds to it." What a great challenge to our American women!

this nation's foreign policy in Europe.

A White House statement in connection with the loan said: "Spain is not, and has not been, a favored country of the United States. Money will be loaned to Spain whenever mutually advantageous arrangements can be made with respect to security, terms of repayment, purposes for which the money is to be spent and other appropriate factors, and whenever such loans will serve the interests of the United States in the conduct of foreign relations."

Also the President denounced as "unwise and dangerous" another provision of the appropriations bill which requires that the executive branch, and not congress, control spending by cutting off $500,000,000 in expenditures from the $30 billion dollar total.

Actually what the congress did represents a failure by the congress itself to exercise its proper function and proper responsibility for enacting appropriations to conduct the government's business. The mere fact that congress approved such a proposal involving an arbitrary cut of such size indicates or is equivalent to a confession that it does not trust its own appropriations committee to do a good job of budget revision.

It will be remembered that the original motion by Senators Bridges and Byrd called for an across-the-board cut of $550,000,000. As it was finally passed, the motion was softened to give the budget bureau some leeway or some discrimination in making the cuts. Said Mr. Truman:

"This is an unwise and dangerous departure from proper budgetary practice. The congress itself should set the precise amounts of money to be spent."

"When I make a mistake, I try to correct it." Then smiling, President Harry Truman stood before more than 200 uninvited members of the U. S. marine corps here at a convention at the Statler hotel and made his apology for the new famous remark concerning the marines.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, FREDERICK G. PAYNE, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 8-14, 1950, as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, and request our schools, churches, service clubs and community groups to cooperate with local fire departments in observing this week in a manner that will bring the need for safety effectively to the attention of all Maine people.

Given at the office of the Governor at Augusta, and sealed with the Great Seal of the State of Maine, this twentieth day of September, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the One Hundred and Seventy-fifth.

(Signed) Frederick G. Payne, Governor
By the Governor: Harold I. Goss, Secretary of State

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Lucille Martin of Gary, Ind.: I don't remember the little red schoolhouse, but I do remember the three-room red brick school building with each room heated with a pot-bellied coal stove. The building usually was set in a small cinder yard. There was a red-composition water bucket in each room with a tin dipper which was shared by about 60 pupils—a far cry from the more sanitary drinking fountain.

From Abigail M. Temple of New York City: Who remembers the songs of Col. Will S. Hayt? A few of his most popular numbers were: "Evangeline," "My Southern Sun," "Home," "Little Log Cabin in the Lane," "Take This Letter To My Mother," "Mollie Darling," "The Drummer Boy Of Shiloh," "I'll Remember Your Love In My Prayers," "Fourteen Years Ago," "Fidelity and Reform," "Driven From Home," "Old-Fashioned Roses Are Sweetest" and "Nora O'Neil."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: I remember getting matches in long boxes containing 1,000 fine sticks with sulphur tips. A box seemed to go fast. Diamond was the most wanted brand.

From Mrs. Maude Phillips of Ontario, Calif.: These sonnettes were brought back old memories to me. Those I remember best include: "When You and I Were Young," "Maggie," "Hillside Gray," "On the Loose Prairie," and "My Old Kentucky Home."

knowing nothing, and being a menace and nuisance. Instead of emphasis on such, I would add to the curriculum, Socialism. Dissect the subject like a pre-med student delves into the innards of man. See just what it is that Socialism has that is fooling so many countries. Europe has chronic socialism—we, here, are still up and around. We have enough of it though, in our bloodstream, to cause concern. Welfare has become "big business."

The Govt cannot barge in any place, except it blows out, some citizen. Govt pays no taxes, the showed-out guy did. The rest of us, we make up the difference. You and me, yet we are the suckers. Yours with the low down, JO SHIRAZ were under the influence of intoxicants. And 45 of the 208 fatal accidents occurred between the hours of 11 p. m. and 2 a. m., 17 more than the previous year. Of these fatal accidents 27 involved drunken drivers... It is high time that the citizens in every community in Iowa quit using the term "accident" when speaking of an occurrence on a highway where a life is taken because of the actions of a drunken driver—a more proper definition would be "murder."

We have been learning many new things about the factor of liquor in auto accidents and some of these things indicate what we should do about the problem. The Minnesota Highway Department made a careful study of over 41,000 accidents in 1947 and found that while only 14% of all accidents involved a drinking driver, 20% of the fatal accidents involved them. They found that property damage accidents amounting to at least $1,000 involved twice as many drinking drivers as the average. All this costs money, too. It's money that insurance companies have to pay out in claims and policyholders first have to pay in premiums. There is no doubt that if this cause of accidents could be entirely eliminated, the cost of every automobile insurance issued in America could be substantially reduced. For years this has been costing you and me, as car owner, many dollars each year. That is the reason why the insurance company of which I am treasurer was organized. We insure total abstinence only, at lower cost, and our experience justifies the conclusion that total abstinence is far safer insurance risks and that alcohol causes much of our serious property damage, injury and death in auto accidents. Ours is the only company of this type in America, and only in Sweden is there another company of this type.

The drinking driving problem has become increasingly severe in recent years, as it affects our youth. The Minnesota Highway Department found in their 1947 study that one-fifth of all drinking drivers were found in the age group of 24 to 29. In 1949 they found 26 percent of their drinking drivers to be in the 25 to 29 age group. In the case of youth we have a tendency through lack of maturity to be reckless in driving, and we have a lack of appreciation of money values. It is easy to understand why alcohol in these circumstances is continued on page five

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

If you divide this charming fall picture into thirds, vertically and horizontally, you'll find that the youngsters were caught in the view finder at a point where two of the lines cross.

It's a Matter of Thirds

WE usually think of pictorial composition as a matter of artistry, rather than of mathematical science, but, strange as it may seem, one of the simplest and most useful rules of composition has its basis in plane geometry.

This is commonly known as the "rule of thirds" and will help you to determine where in your picture to place the point, or points, of emphasis for the best effect. Such a point is essential to a good picture. To be meaningful, a shot must have some one thing or group of things that must stand out sufficiently to show that it or they provided the reason for making the picture.

To make use of the rule of thirds, you have to do a little imaginative drawing of lines. When you are studying your proposed picture in the view finder of your camera, divide the picture area into thirds, vertically and horizontally. These lines will cross at four points and it has been found that any one of these four points offers a natural spot for the placement of your primary subject. Secondary points of interest can be located at or near any of the other three intersections.

In this way you are placing the subject to one side of and above or below the center of the picture and thus avoiding the static quality that so often is the result of placing a subject in the dead center of the picture area.

Of course, like all rules, the rule of thirds is made to be broken and varied in accordance with particular situations. However, in general, it's a good guide and you will find that it works particularly well when you are dealing with action and movement.

Dignity of the Individual

THE dignity and integrity of the individual are basic to a free society and a truly democratic way of living. Yet world thinking seems to be in confusion over what constitutes freedom and integrity. The Latin roots of these two words emphasize their present-day importance. Dignity comes from the word meaning "worthy," and the root meaning of integrity is "whole."

For centuries the Bible has offered practical and inspiring descriptions of man's spiritual dignity and integrity. One of these reads (Psalm 8:4-6): "What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour. Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet."

The glory and honor of God's man, having dominion and enjoying his full spiritual birthright of dignity, integrity, and freedom, were what Christ Jesus spoke of when he said (John 8:32): "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Those who had taken their limited mortal concepts of freedom for granted replied in puzzled amazement, "We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, 'Ye shall be made free'?"

He replied (John 8:34): "Whoever committeth sin is the servant of sin." He was demanding of them a more fundamental understanding of man's freedom, worthiness, wholeness, sanctity, and glory could be gained from superior, limited concepts of freedom based wholly on mortal systems and human birthrights.

Extending and expanding this concept of the freedom and integrity of man as God's expression and reflection, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 227): "Jesus marked out the way. Citizens of the world, accept the glorious liberty of the children of God, and be free! This is your divine right."

There is healing efficacy in understanding that man's real heritage of freedom, dignity, and integrity, is independent of social and political systems. This heritage includes freedom from sickness and disorder of every sort, worthiness to enjoy full dominion as the child of God, wholeness of being as the complete expression and reflection of infinite Life, Truth, and Love.

The spiritual dignity and integrity are Godlike qualities, the expression and demonstration of which are vital to man's heritage of freedom and dominion. —The Christian Science Monitor.

ALCOHOL AND OUR HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL

more serious with our youth than with persons of mature judgment. It is tragic that much of our present day alcoholic beverage advertising is aimed at this youth group. This is one of the reasons that I joined others as a witness in Washington last January to support the Langer Bill in the Committee hearings.

The alcohol in our accidents is most often found late at night. The Minnesota Highway Department found that in 1949, 78% of their rural drinking driver accidents occurred during hours of darkness and dusk. The two hour period from midnight to 2 a. m. accounted for 24 per cent of the driver accidents. They found that 48 per cent of these accidents occurred on Saturday and Sunday.

The other day I visited a highway department official in one Western state. He told me that outside his principal city on the main highway were several night-time sellers of alcohol in the first ten miles. In the first six months of 1950 he said that on that ten mile stretch of road there were 39 accidents of which three were fatal. All three fatal accidents involved liquor. He said that 41% of the accidents on that road occurred between midnight and 6 a. m. with 36% on Saturday and Sunday. Drinking drivers were involved in 54% of the accidents and in 88% of the injury accidents. And 63% of the accidents involved drivers at fault who were driving toward the city indicating the return from rural late night carousals.

In recent weeks it has been suggested that we should tighten our belts due to the Korean War and what it involves. Considering the situation we face this is wise and proper advice which we should heed. I should like to make bold to suggest however that we be willing to tighten our belts so far as liquor is concerned and save some lives at home. It would not involve any super human sacrifices.

What are some of the things we could do to reduce this drink-driving toll in our country? Well, here are a few: We could stop the sale of liquor on the open highway at places which can be reached only by automobile. We could stop the sale of liquor and beer late at night. We could make it a crime to be for profit of intoxication compulsory by law. We could increase the size of our highway patrol staffs and their compensation to encourage capable men to assume and continue to serve such tasks.

TODAY'S FIRE SAFETY FLASH

over long periods of time. We could establish an intermediate offense for driving while under the influence of liquor since recent studies in Sweden indicate that relatively small amounts of alcohol cause substantial impairments of driving ability, and we could stop this big pressure advertising of alcoholic beverages and particularly that which aims at youth.

We could do much by personal example and encouragement. We could do many things which help reduce the amount of alcohol consumed in our country which would reduce the death toll in proportion. We could, where possible, avoid patronizing firms that are also engaged in the sale of alcohol. We could discourage late night carousals and encourage participation in church activities on the part of our fellow man. We could become really interested in the real brotherhood of man, and the rewards to us and our society would be almost beyond measure.

LOOKING for something different in a beverage for entertaining? Your guests will enjoy equal parts of hot fresh coffee mixed with hot cocoa, topped with whipped cream or marshmallows. You'll enjoy this new way of serving squash: mash cooked squash and mix with strained orange pulp, then season. Pile back into orange shells and bake long enough to heat through. What's roast duck without oranges? Cut the fruit in half, sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Place these right in the roasting pan with the duck for about two hours. Try this grapefruit garnish with fish: roll the sections of fruit in a mixture of half flour and half sugar. Brown in drippings, and serve around fish.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Citrus Salad Dressing (Makes 1 1/2 cups)
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 cup canned fruit juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 egg, slightly beaten
Combine ingredients. Cook over very low heat until thickened, about 7 minutes. Cool. Serve with fruit salads, or as a dessert sauce on puddings, deep dish fruit pies or turnovers.

Walnut bonbons are a nice accompaniment to fruit salads. Make small balls of seasoned cream cheese, and place the ball between two walnut halves. Vegetable chowder made with vegetables cooked in milk takes on appeal and nourishment if you add some processed American cheese to it. Heat slowly, long enough to melt the cheese. Try this variation for your next batch of scalloped tomatoes: layer the tomatoes with sliced onion and bread cubes. Add seasonings of sugar, salt and pepper and bake. Leftover chicken makes a good skillet meal if you brown onion in fat, then add two cups of chick en broth and 1/2 cup uncooked rice. Cook slowly until rice is tender, then add the chicken, some canned mushrooms and season.

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS
Albany, Oregon, Democrat-Herald: "The rank and file of the American people who pay the taxes pay little attention to national government. This has encouraged wastefulness to a degree which has become alarming."
Denville, N. J., Herald: "The elaborate tables prepared by the New Jersey CIO on the voting records of the state legislators don't say directly whether a senator or assemblyman voted 'yes' or 'no'; they listed as voting 'wrong' on the utility anti-strike law because they voted to extend the law and thereby give the public some measure of protection against sudden irresponsible action by the leaders of utility unions."
Chevalah, Wash., Independent: "The Hoover survey showed that the U. S. government owned 848,567 typewriters which are being used by 235,000 persons. The difference between government and private business is that private business would dispose of 613,567 of the typewriters while the government will employ 613,567 persons to run the idle typewriters."
Wakefield, Mass., Daily Item: "Curious to know how the female bathing suit industry is to comply with the government's desire to have us get along with less of everything."
Fairfield, Iowa, Daily Ledger: "We better return to the Constitution instead of trying to plunge any deeper into the mud-hole of totalitarianism which is as far removed from our way of life as the North Pole is from the South Pole."
Nazareth, Pa., Item: "The women who pay the increased costs, the men who work to make the money to buy the higher priced food, are voters. Maybe they are voters who figure that if our government, through Congress, can create inflation, as it did four years ago, it can prevent inflation, as of today."

Franklin, Indiana, Republican: "Social security is paid for by payroll taxes exacted from workers and employers; hence bigger benefits spell higher levies."
Italy, Texas, News-Herald: "What fools these mortals be that cannot learn from European socialists that government ownership means inefficiency, scarcity, low pay -- and most important, no remedy for the laboring man!"

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD
By CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor Parents Magazine

YOUNG FATHER we know claims his baby's first word was a somewhat quizzical, "Really?" Most babies are more conventional. They say "Ma Ma" or "Da Da." But it is delightfully characteristic for young children to be quite original. There are many "yes men" in the world, but mighty few "yes babies." For the young child lives in a world of his own making. Custom and convention do not apply to this world because they are unknown. Nor can the baby be influenced by arguments; He doesn't understand them. Innocence, however, does not always result in bliss. Often the baby is punished for something he cannot comprehend. For example, the infant sees no difference between a rubber ball and a china tea cup. Why then should mother smile when he throws the ball to the floor and slap him for tossing the cup down? It's bewildering--and so is the unexpected noise of the teacup shattering.

An older child finds it equally difficult to understand why it is "cute" for a little girl to say her fairy godmother gave her blue eyes, but that it is untruthful for a child to blame an elf for making her late for supper. The situation may be as perplexing to the mother. No one wants to squelch a child's imagination, inventiveness, originality. The answer seems to be to call upon our own imaginative powers to transform the lesson we wish to teach into a form the child will understand and accept happily. Mother might say, "But in real life, Dear, elves can't make you do anything you don't want to do."

I guess you just wanted to play outside longer. But you should come when I call you, for supper's ready." Dad might add, "Next time tell the elf to go jump-in the lake."

This doesn't mean a child ought to be kept in a realm of fairy tale and make-believe. It does mean that he ought to be allowed to think for himself. Even if his thinking runs to the fanciful. As children grow older they automatically become more and more realistic. Strangely enough it is the child who has not been allowed to give his imagination free reign who clings longest to his own child-world. In extreme cases where a child has been forced too soon to accept realities that are unbearably harsh, he may always, even as an adult, resort to daydreaming and unrealistic rationalizing.

Normal children, however, tire soon enough of make-believe. They beg for a watch that really tells time. They want a chance to cook on the real gas range. In this stage it sometimes seems that the pendulum has made a full swing, for realism seems to dominate the youngster's viewpoint. Dolls are no good unless they have real hair. The toy wash machine must be filled with water and soap and, as one observant young lady insisted, "water smoother." Yet, if the child has been taught to think independently, he will not copy blindly. He will ask questions--thoughtful, unexpected, challenging questions. He will seek causes behind operations. He will think up new ways of doing things. He will have the healthy curiosity which though pre-verbally fatal to cats, is a prerequisite for man's mental growth.

FRYEBURG FAIR OBSERVING

100th ANNIVERSARY OCT. 2-7

A century of progress will be the theme of the five-day program scheduled by the officials of West Oxford Agricultural Society for the 100th anniversary of the Fryeburg Fair starting Tuesday, Oct. 3, and continuing through to Saturday, Oct. 7.

As an opening feature the grounds will be opened Sunday for the first attraction, Ward Beam's Thrill Drivers will present an afternoon and evening auto thrill show, and baseball games will be staged in the afternoon.

The actual observance program will get under way Tuesday with horse, steer and ox pulling and judging of steers as highlights of the program. Eight dashes of parimutuel racing will open the five day race meet.

Wednesday evening sees the first of the thrilling night shows, when patrons will have the opportunity of seeing noted stage, screen and radio stars in person. Five acts of vaudeville will be presented on the open air stage across the track from the grandstand.

Thursday's program is featured by the only attraction of its kind in New England, the famous Fryeburg Fair Calf Scramble. This event has been publicized by national photo magazines, movie newsreels and newspapers and has done more to spread the fame of the western Maine fair than any other event on the program.

Thursday morning, after the calf scramble, will be the annual 4-H Baby Beef Judging and Showmanship classes. The Grand Champion will be selected from the group and this animal will be the first to go on sale Friday morning at the 13th annual 4-H Baby Beef Auction.

The annual Furebred Hereford Sale will highlight the Friday afternoon card and a six-foot elimination contest for oxen and horses will also be presented.

On Thursday evening the fair officials have set up a special night program of horse pulling which features the six-foot elimination contest similar to the pulling programs scheduled at New Hampshire fairs.

The fair society has completed the first of its permanent buildings to house cattle. When five more of the 120-foot long buildings are erected it will end one of the picturesque features of the 100 year old fair, the long line of tents which have been used year after year to house the more than 700 head of cattle exhibited at the fair.

Nobody's Business

Gould Academy's new course in driver education may well be one of the school's most attractive and important subjects. There is no doubt of the need of such instruction. It is reasonable to suppose that properly taught drivers will be safer drivers. Probably by this time there are statistics to prove the value of such courses in lowered accident records. Anyway there should be at least one safe car around town as the dual-control car with instructor and pupil makes its appearance on the streets.

It is time for our smoking drivers to become fire-conscious as during the coming weeks the highways will be bordered with fallen leaves and the hot days of Indian Summer will create the annual fire hazard which is the cause of a great and needless loss. Every fall many woods fires are traced to cigarettes and matches which have been thrown carelessly from passing cars. A decent regard for simple safety practices should result in a considerable reduction in the loss caused by forest fires every year.

Of God, Infinite Spirit, Love, the governing intelligence, the wise man entreated, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths." Prov. 3:6.

New Idea in Dishwashing

Operating on a "revolutionary" principle of automatic dishwashing, this new Youngtown Kitchen dishwasher will do the family's dishes in less than 10 minutes. The young lady holds the partially filled upper basket to show how cups, glasses and silverware are positioned. A lower basket holds plates, larger dishes and pans. The machine will hold table service for six people. The tube in the middle of the tub is a jet lower which spins and throws powerful streams of water which shear food particles off dishes. Water at 180 degrees is delivered from a booster heater tank in the machine.
